GPO's Collaborations:

Increasing access to and preservation of the National Collection of U.S. Government Public Information

Agenda

- National Collection
- Partnership overview
- Impact on access to the National Collection
- Impact on preservation of the National Collection

National Collection of U.S. Government Public Information

- Scope: all public information products of the U.S. Government, regardless of format or medium, produced by Federal employees or paid for with Federal funds
- Location: a geographically dispersed collection of the corpus of Federal Government public information that is accessible to the public at no cost
- Institutions: Federal depository libraries serve as stewards for all of the materials distributed in tangible format throughout the history of the FDLP
- Online: includes GovInfo collections, as well as content harvested by GPO, and content hosted on Federal agency websites

Official GPO Partnerships: History

- GPO's FDLP partnerships were created to share the tasks of building, storing, disseminating, and preserving the collection of FDLP resources.
- Initially, GPO partnerships focused on providing permanent public access to electronic content not housed on GPO Access (now GovInfo) or to provide access to services related to the administration of a FDLP collection.
- Official partnerships are formalized with a memorandum of agreement.
- By 2005, there were 17 partnerships: 10 focused on content, and 7 focus on administrative FDLP services.

Official GPO Partnerships: Categories

- Preservation Stewards
- Digital Preservation Stewards
- Digital Content Contributors
- Digital Access Partners
- Cataloging and Metadata Contributors
- Other/Specialized

Current GPO Partners

Impact on Access: Cataloging

- Help develop the comprehensive national bibliography of U.S. Government public information to provide the public with a discovery tool for the National Collection.
- Bibliographic records created by partners or GPO because of a partnership.
- Added to the Catalog of U.S. Government Publications (CGP).
- Contain a PURL link for digital content.

predecessor agencies, and other Federal agency publishers about the F	The Panama Canal Related Publications Collection provides a digitized record of the official documents published by the Panama Canal Commission, its predecessor agencies, and other Federal agency publishers about the Panama Canal from the early 20th century through the 1990's. The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO) and the University of Florida's George A. Smathers Libraries partnered to make this digitized content available. The United States Government controlled and operated the Panama Canal and the surrounding Canal Zone from 1904 through 1999. The Panama Canal Commission was the final Federal agency to manage, operate, and maintain the Canal. The Commission was created by the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977, and superseded the Canal Zone Government and the Panama Canal Company. The Commission operated the Canal until the expiration of the Panama Canal Treaty on December 31, 1999, when the Republic of Panama assumed full responsibility for the Canal.

Impact on Tangible Preservation

- Preservation Stewards preserve the tangible National Collection.
- Commit to retain and preserve tangible Federal Government publications for the duration of the agreement.
- Ensure all titles are cataloged and include a permanent retention notation in the record.
- Provide item level inventories with item level condition statements to GPO for historic collections.
- Confirm receipt of current collections via an inventory list sent by GPO twice a year.

Impact on Tangible Preservation

- Publications in over 300 SuDoc classes being preserved across 52 Preservation Stewards.
- In development is work to add holdings for Preservation Stewards to the CGP.
- Upcoming focus is ensuring Preservation Stewards for titles the limited titles still being distributed in print.
